

Auto China Show 2018

Here is the first of the two new Pininfarina concepts: H500, electric sedan designed for Hybrid Kinetic Group

Torino, April 9th 2018 - Pininfarina and Hybrid Kinetic Group add new members to the family of electric cars born out of their collaboration, confirming the joint effort towards the development of clean energy vehicles thus continuing to refine the identity and the formal language of the Hong Kong-based high-tech brand.

At the Auto China Show, which will open on April 25, two new models will be unveiled as world premiere next to the HK GT already presented a few weeks ago at the Geneva Motor Show. The first of the two new concepts by Pininfarina is the H500, an electric sedan that combines elegance and sportiness, pure shapes and sophisticated details, designed for dynamic lifestyle seekers.

The H500 too presents the leading edge technology developed by HK for the drive system, with battery, electric motors, central control unit and range extender.

From the collaboration with HK the H600 luxury sedan presented at the 2017 Geneva Motor Show, the 5-seater SUV K550 SUV and the K750 7-seater SUV presented at the 2017 Shanghai Motor Show, and the 2018 HK GT, have already been created.

To find out the H500 the appointment is April 25th, 2018 on the HK booth (W404) at the Auto China Show. Further details of the H500 will be unveiled in the coming days on:
